Im concerned about my ability to refuse urination for drug testing and instead offering a hair, sweat, oral fluid testing. i have paruresis and it's near impossible for me to pee on demand especially with someone even near. the last time i was drug tested it took 30 minutes and the lady wouldn't leave the door and it hurt to urinate i had to squeeze it out and then i found out about offering oral fluid testing and thats all i will do from now on. you equate my inability to pee with a refusal and can fail me on a drug test when i have never touched the stuff. please consider this

thank you
